me only fit for scullery maids.

Ann is to plain and common, And Nancy sounds but ill; Yet Anna is endurable. And Annie better still: There is a grace in Charlotte. In Eleanor a state; An elegance in Isabelle, A haughtiness in Kate; And Sarah is sedate and neat. And Ellen innocent and sweet.

Matilda has a sickly sound, Fit for a nurse's trade; Sophish is effeminate, And Esther sage and staid Elizabeth's a matchless name, Fit for a Queen to wear-In castle, cottage, but or hall, A name beyond compare; And Bess and Bessie follow well, But Betsey is detestable.

And Gertruge is too gruff, Yet coupled with a pretty face, Is pretty name enough; And Adelaide is fanciful. And Laura is too fine, And Emily is beautiful, And Mary is divine; Mand only suits a high-born dame, And Fanny is a baby name. Eliza is not very choice.

Jane is too blunt and bold. And Martha somewhat sorrowful, And Lucy proud and cold; Amelia is too light and gny. Fit only for a fiirt; And Caroline is vain and shy, And Flora smart and pert; Louisa is too soft and sleek, But Alice gentle, chaste and meek.

And Harriet is confiding, And Clara grave and mild, And Emma is affectionate. And Janet arch and wild ; And Patience is expressive. And Grace is old and rare, And Catharine warm and dutiful, And Margaret frank and fair; And Faith and Hope and Charity . Are heavenly names for sisters three.

From Arthor's Home Gazette The Erring. BY ALICE CARY.

"The quality of mercy is not strained: It droppeth like the gentle rain from heaven, Upon the place beneath; it is twice blessed; Tis mightyest in the mightyest; it becomes; The through monarch better than his crown: His scentre shows the force of temporal power, The attribure to awe and majesty, Wherein doth set the dread and fear of kings: But mercy is above this ceptred away; It is enthroned in the hearts of kings; It is an atribute of God himself: And earthly power doth them show likest God's, When mercy seasons justice."

MERCHANT OF VENICE. If there be one prayer more than another that e need always in our hearts, it is the "Lead us ot into temptation;" how many, treading in as straight a path, and with as firm a step, perhaps the toils of the long and hard way, beckened aside into what seemed some cool and sheltered nestling place of rest, have turned from the narrow way, and been lost forever. Vain henceforth, are all their struggles; darkly between them and the confidence of the world, between them and the friendships they have broken, and most of all, between them and their own self-respect, lies "the hand of an all-pitiless demon," evermore.

Is not this a retribution terrible enough-that man and woman, too, should pause for their own syccations, and, with haughty words and wither-ing looks, coldly measure the distance between avocations, and, with haughtv words and witheror and the fallen, even when themselves will not go away disappointed.

CHARLES GREENFIELDER. have kept the way with feeble and faltering steps and when the very error which they effect so to despise, has shown up like a light revealing the hidious darkness into which they else would have gonel For it is of the erring I speak now, and not of the criminal. Darkened from its primal beauty, the soul may be, yet it still is exceeding precious, else in Heaven there would not be such joy over one sinner that repenteth.

There is less total depravity in the world than we are apt to imagine, and I doubt not but there s something good in almost every nature which the leven of kindness might reach, and so the whole man be regenerated.

ity, than all the fiery-tipped arrows that ever went hiseing from indigeant hands.

I have little charity for that self-righteousne which mingles with its abhorrence of error, no pity for the erring. Breathings of wrath and denunciations fill the world, chilling "that best warmth that radiates from the heart, where Love sits brooding and an honest purpose," and darkening the great light that is continually round about us. We leave the wretched to "uncomforted and friendless solitude," where, within the fiery IMPOTENCY—Through unrestrained indulgence of the passions, by excess or self-abuse, the evils are numerous—Premature impotency, involuntary seminal discharges, wasting of the organs, loss of memory, a distaste for female society, general debility, or constitutional derangement, are sure to follow. If necessary, consult the doctor with confidence; he offers a perfect cure.

Read and reflect!—The afflicted would do well to reflect before trusting their health, happiness, and immany cases their lives, in the hands of physicians ignorant of this class of maladies. It is certainly impossible for one man to understand all the fills the human family are subject to. Every respectable physician has his peculiar branch, in which he is more successful than his brother professors, and to that he devotes most of his time and study.

Years of practice, exclusively devoted to the study and treatment of diseases of the sexual organs, together with ulcers upon the body, throat, now or legs, pains in the head or hones, mercurial sheumatism strictures, gravel, irregularities, diseases arising from youthful excesses, or impurities of the blood, whereby the constitution has become enfeebled, enables the doctor to offer speedy relief to all who may place themselves under his care.

cc., particular attention will be paid to the diseases of the mouth and gums, a branch of the profession usually neglected.

Dr. S. is in possession of all the improvements which give the Boston Dentists the preference over those of any other city in the union; and manufacturing his own mineral teeth on their improved plan, he can dispense with the glassy and ghastly oppearance common to procelain teeth. Owing to the absorption which always takes place when the roots of the natural teeth are re moved, it is necessary to make use of teeth that are much longer than the natural organs ever are so that when the common teeth are used, mistend of being an ornament, they often disfigure the mouth; nor will the use of the old fashioned gum teeth, obviate the difficulty. But the improvedmentod removes every objection, and though they are composed of the same materials, they are so constructed as to be much more serviceable and durable, and in case of accident they can be repaired with less than half the expense incurred in the repairs of the old kind. There are verymany advantages resulting from these improvements, which cannot be set forth in a notice so brief. Those interested are therefore invited to call at his office and Dr. S. will be glad to explain the advantages of this over the old plan, a plan on which he practiced for years before he received the improvements. References will be given to persons in this vicinity now wearing teeth inserted by him, and to one individual in this village who has an entire set in both jaws.

DR. HALSEY'S FOREST WINE:

The discovery of the Ferest Wine is the greatest blessing of the age. Put up on quart bottles, a single bottle of which does more good and goes farther in the cure of disease than ten bottles of any Sarsaparilla in use, and warranted to cure without anyumpleasant or weakening effect.

The method by which all Sarsaparillas and other similar advances are prepared, is by boiling the roots of lar medicines are prepared, is by boiling the roots of plants to obtain the extracts. Their medicinal virtues are thus principally evaporated and destroyed.

It is not to be wondered at then, that ten and even It is not to be wondered at then that ten and even twenty bottles of these Sarsaparillas are sometimes taken without any perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine. By the invention of a wonderful chemical aparities, a perfect wine is produced without healing retaining, at the same time, all the primitive healing properties of the rare medical plants of which it is composed, thus rendering the Forest Wine the most efficient medicine the world ever produced, at the same time the most parseable.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Joseph C. Paulding, dated Philadelphia, Sept. 7, 1852.

Dr. G. W. Halsey—Dear Sir, your Forest wine and Pills have cured my wife of a dreadful nervous disorder, with which she had been afflicted for many years. Her body was almost wasted away. She was frequently dis-turbed in her sleep by frightful dreams, awakening quite turbed in her sleep by frightful dreams, awakening quite exhausted and covered with perspiration, and at times aboring under the delusion that something dreadful was about to happen to her. By the use of four bottles of the wine, and a box of the pills, she is now in perfect health. She has regained her flesh and eclor, and enjoys society as well as ever.

Among these are Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Chronic Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Incidental Hæmorrhage, or Flooding, Flour Albus or Whites, Chlorosis, Painful, Suppressed and irregular Menstruation, etc., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted.) of whatever duration and severity. All these complaints can be pleasantly, safely, and certainly remedied by this preparation.

The general failure of the worthy attempts of the medical faculty to cure this class of diseases heretofore, is greatly to be attributed to their reliance upon local re-medies, aside from the want of a knowledge of the prop-er treatment for the general economy. Already, very many of the profession, having witnessed its salutary effects, have thrown saide their conventional prejudice and are manifesting a due regard for the welfare of their patients, by recommending the use of this Medicine and resorting to it themselves in the treatment of all the complaints for which it is intended.

The influence of this composition upon the female constitution is of the most friendly kind, the most delieste and feeble female need have no fears in its use for any length of time, for it contains no mercury, nor any article which can prove in any way injurious being made entirely of vegetable extracts, and prepared so as to taste
